PRESIDENT SENDS THREE MESSAGES.

One on Panama Canal Attracted Special Attention.

Recommendations Regarding Naval Personnel Bill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Three messages from the President were received by Congress today, and their reading occupied practically all the time of the Senate. The reading was delayed in the House by the fact that it was suspension day.

The messages were in relation to the public land laws and the navy personnel bill and a recounting of the President's visit to inspect the Panama canal. The latter message attracted great interest because it was elaborately illustrated, showing the work on the great waterway in its various stages. It was in the form of an entertaining story of the President's visit. As it was read, the Senators followed it closely from handsomely bound copies which had been laid upon their desks.

At the request of Senator Heyburn, the President's message on public land laws was ordered printed and to lie on the table for the present. The Idaho Senator has conferred with the President on the subject of the recommendations and intends to address the Senate concerning them.

The full text of the message regarding the navy personnel bill is as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In my last three annual messages I have invited the attention of the Congress to the urgent necessity of such legislation as will cause officers of the line of the navy to reach the grades of captain and rear admiral at less advanced ages, and will give them more experience and training in the important duties of those grades. Under the present archaic system of promotion without parallel in the navy of any other first-class power, captains are commissioned at the average age of 55 and rear admirals at the average of 60. This system is the result of a long continued prejudice in favor of a method of promotion by which all lieutenants in order of seniority pass through the several grades until they eventually become rear admirals; a method which sacrifices the good of the service to the interest of individual inefficiency.

As a direct consequence of the existing method naval officers obtain more than ample service in subordinate positions, but have a limited and inadequate experience as captains in command of battleships and as flag officers in charge of fleets and squadrons; that is, in the very positions of greatest responsibility, where experience, skill and initiative are essential to efficiency. Moreover, they obtain the position of a flag officer but a few months before they reach the retiring age, and have no opportunity to perfect themselves in the important duties of the high commands pertaining to such rank.

History, modern and ancient, has invariably shown that an efficient personnel is the greatest factor toward an effective navy. No matter how well equipped in other respects a navy may be, though its fleet may be composed of powerful high-speed battleships, maneuvred by complicated tactics, based upon the latest development of naval science, yet it is grievously handicapped, if directed by admirals and captains who lack experience in their duties, and who are hampered by long deprivation of independent action and responsibility. To oppose such a fleet to one equally good, led by

CRITICAL FUEL SITUATION.

Scarcity of Coal in North Dakota Causes Great Anxiety.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Dec. 17.—The fuel situation today is the most critical ever known in the history of the state. Careful inquiry in every portion of the northern half of the state shows that there is not a town in which coal can be had except in small quantities. In dozens of places there is not a pound to be bought, the dealers having been out of fuel for days.

In some places the light plants and schools are closed.

The same conditions prevail in the southern half of the state and in northern Minnesota.

One of the most serious features is the possibility of a snow blockade. There is now more snow on the ground than at any time since 1896.

INCREASE GOES INTO EFFECT.

Employes in Lowell and Chicopee Mills Working Under New Scale.

BOSTON, Dec. 17.—The week before Christmas was ushered in happily today for nearly 20,000 operatives employed in the cotton mills of Lowell and Chicopee, when an advanced wage scale went into effect. In Lowell the manufacturers voluntarily granted to about 17,000 operatives last Friday a five per cent increase in wages. The Textile Council, however, had under consideration a request for a 10 per cent increase, and at a meeting held last night it was decided to postpone action on the 10 per cent increase question until next Sunday.

In Chicopee the Dwight Manufacturing Company posted notices in all departments of its mills Saturday that an advanced scale of wages would go into effect Monday. The amount of the increase was not stated. The company employs 1,900 persons and with a new addition to the factories being completed 500 new employes will be taken on. The action was voluntary on the part of the corporation. At the Chicopee Manufacturing Company's plants the union operatives are engaged in a discussion with the mill officials over a 10 per cent increase which the company has said it could not grant, but which has left the matter in the hands of the union officers.

By New Year's, 175,000 cotton mill operatives all over New England are expected to be participating in an advance in wages amounting from five to 10 per cent.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 17.—The Swedish government today ratified the Algeciras convention.

CARDINAL RICHARD VACATES PALACE.

Imposing Catholic Manifestation Takes Place.

Demonstration by Non-Clericals.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, today voluntarily vacated the Episcopal palace and temporarily accepted the hospitality of Denys Cochin, the conservative deputy, at the latter's residence in the Rue Babelon. The departure of the prelate was the occasion for an imposing Catholic manifestation, on the part of the bishops and priests of Paris, many members of the nobility and about 3,000 men and women. The gathering blocked the street in front of the Episcopal palace and those present sang the Credo and other canticles as the cardinal was assisted into his carriage by the coadjutor archbishop Monsignor Amette, and his two vicars general. The crowd knelt and chanted as the cardinal seated himself in the vehicle, and the venerable prelate then stood up and blessed the multitude. A number of young Catholics thereupon unhooked the horses and with difficulty dragged the carriage through the dense masses of people. On all sides were heard cries of "Long live Plus X" and "Long live the cardinal."

Detachments of mounted republican guards preceded and followed the procession in order to prevent any possible disorder. But there was not the slightest attempt on the part of the non-clerical crowd to make any counter manifestations. The clerical crowd subsequently followed Monsignor Amette to the Church of St. Francis Xavier, where the coadjutor celebrated a benediction service, at the end of which he thanked those present for the sentiments they had manifested, and exhorted them to persevere in their attitude in the defense of the rights of the church.

As the coadjutor archbishop left the church the clericals attempted to reform the procession, but the republican guards put an end to any further demonstration.

URGING DEMONSTRATIONS.

Extreme Parties Protest Against Their Repression in Rome.

ROME, Dec. 17.—The extreme parties strongly protest against the repression of yesterday's popular demonstration here in sympathy with France and are organizing new manifestations. The leaders urge their adherents in the meanwhile to leave their cards at the French embassy, where they are piling up by the thousands.

JAIL FOR THREE MONTHS.

Alfred Ames of the Frolic Receives Sentence of Imprisonment.

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 17.—In the United States court here today Alfred Ames, one of the crew of smuggling schooner Frolic, was sentenced to jail for three months and was fined $1 without costs. Ames told the court that he had gone into the smuggling business without knowing that he was so doing.

Moody Takes Oath as Supreme Court Justice.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—President Roosevelt's cabinet was reconstructed today and the elevation of Attorney General William H. Moody to the Supreme Court bench made a vacancy in the President's official family, which was filled by Oscar S. Straus of New York, who took the oath of office as Secretary of Commerce and Labor. Secretary Metcalf of California, who was succeeded by Mr. Straus, went to the Navy Department to succeed Secretary Bonaparte of Maryland, who in turn took up his duties as Attorney General, to fill the place made vacant by Mr. Moody's appointment to the Supreme Court.

The ceremony inducting Mr. Moody into his new judicial position was the most impressive of the day. Wear-

Buy Your Christmas Gifts Now.

Our place may now close any day. If you examine the nominal figures put on price tags of goods you will realize how anxious we are to sell goods at some price, in order to get rid of same. This certainly is a chance of a life time to secure choice reliable merchandise at a mere fraction of actual cost. We have been selling already thousands of dollars worth for Xmas Gifts. If you have been spending in past years say $100 for Xmas gifts, this year by purchasing here NOW you can get nicer and more expensive presents at $50 or less. The goods we have left on hand are almost invariably what constituted the choicest and the most expensive part of our stock for the simple reason that when earlier, the prices were generally cut down by 40 and 50 per cent, the lower price goods were picked out in no time as everybody wanted them, while the expensive goods even at their half price did not seem to interest the average buyer half as much as the lower price goods at a smaller reduction. Now the choice merchandise we have on hand has just been marked down regardless of former prices, cost or even intrinsic value. The reduction in prices is such that must interest all buyers. We submit the following values taken at random from our different departments.

1 English Inlaid Comb. Bookcase and Desk at $125, from $350.
1 English Oak Hall Stand, complete with beveled plate Umbrella Stand, etc., at $21, from $55.

This Morning's News.

WITH PEACE AND GOOD ORDER.

Services Held in Churches Throughout France at Usual Hours.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—France's first Sunday since the state and church were legally separated passed much as other Sundays. Perhaps a few more people went to church. All the usual services were held at the usual hours, with the customary peace and good order.

Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, has announced that he will leave his palace at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Many Catholics will escort him when he leaves.

Nowhere in Paris today was there aught unseemly, and the reports received from the provinces up to this evening brought no word of any incident of serious import, with the single exception of Brest, where a commissary was prevented by a fanatical crowd from obtaining the name of a priest who had said mass. The commissary was obliged to draw his revolver to defend himself from a woman who raised a knife to stab him.

The Bishop of St. Brieuc was accompanied home after mass by a crowd of 1,500 persons, who gave him an ovation. A crowd also accompanied the Bishop of Perpignan to his home. Their presence excited a counter-demonstration, and the gendarmerie had to disperse the crowd. Some were injured.

The Radical Municipal Council at Dieppe has decided to make a declaration to enable the holding of services in all the churches of the city.

The worshippers found some changes connected with the services. In the first place, most of the Parish churches opened for entrance only their small or side doors, but their great doors were opened for the exit of the congregations. Inside no representatives of the church stood ready to collect payment for places, all seats being free under the state. In some churches the alms boxes remained as usual. In others they were wide open, as a reminder to the faithful that such contributions were no longer the property of the church.

In most of the churches the ceremonies were conducted with the customary pomp, including choral accessories, indicating that many of the heretofore paid assistants were serving free or that a new means had been found to remunerate them, but some churches were without altar decorations and had no music whatever. The only other noticeable change within the churches was the presence in all except the Madeleine of three or four policemen, who found nothing to do. The cure of the Madeleine declined to receive protection from the police, but doubtless a government agent was present at the services there. At Notre Dame there were many police and detectives to guard against any emergency. There were, however, needless.

No disposition was shown anywhere by enemies of the church to make trouble. Indeed, there was no sign of the existence of such enemies.

Some Catholics seemed to anticipate trouble. Thirty zealous youths went to Notre Dame de la Croix armed with cudgels and posted themselves before the great door. The cure's wisdom compelled them to deposit their sticks in the sacristy. The persistent youths, however, stood guard nonetheless. No attack was made on them or the church.

Most of the priests contented themselves with reading the evangel and commenting thereon. At St. Ambrose's Mgr. Amette, Coadjutor Archbishop of Paris, delivered an eloquent sermon. He exhorted the faithful to conform to the Pope's instructions and to remain calm, but energetic.

At Lesneven, Department of Finistere, 16 miles northeast of Brest, a commissary presented himself at the church after mass to learn the celebrant's name. The priest refused to reply to his questions. The priest was immediately surrounded by women, who seized chairs and drove the commissary out of the church. A crowd pursued him along the street, hurling mud, stones and sticks at him. One woman attacked him with an open knife, which he knocked out of her hand. He then drew his revolver and threatened to shoot the first person touching him. This caused the crowd to retire. The commissary should have gone to a neighboring commune, but he retreated to Brest.

The Bishop of Chalons, who refused to leave his palace unless force were used, was expelled without incident this morning.

The Bishops of Rouen and Rennes have decided that there will be no midnight Christmas mass except in community houses, owing to present circumstances.

TO PROTECT THE VATICAN.

Whole Garrison of Rome Called Out Because of Demonstration.

ROME, Dec. 16.—The whole garrison of Rome was employed today to protect the Vatican, which is surrounded by cavalry, and the bridges leading to the Apostolic Palace are barred by troops. Thousands of demonstrators friendly to France and of anti-Vatican tendencies gathered tonight in the plaza adjoining the Farnese Palace, the seat of the French embassy, in an endeavor to express their pleasure at the French government's action toward the church. All the streets leading to the Farnese Palace are protected by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

The demonstrators led by a dozen radical Socialists and Republican members of the Chamber of Deputies, including Prince Borghese, after vainly attempting to break the cordon, provided themselves with candles and formed a torch procession, intoning the Miserere as an intervention of the death of clericalism, amid the cries of "Long Live France!" "Long Live Clemenceau!" and "Down with the Vatican!" Deputy Ferri and De Felice tried to harangue the people but the police interfered.

The demonstration occurred near the monument of Giordano Bruno, the monk-philosopher, who was burned alive, a victim of religious intolerance. Deputy Costa hardly made himself heard. He said: "Before this monument to Bruno, of free thought, let us send our applause to France, for this great people continuing the traditional obstinate struggle against the mediaeval clericalism."

Fresh attempts were then made to beat back the cordon, and the cavalry charged the demonstrators, a few of whom were slightly injured and several were arrested. Amid cries and shouts and the singing of the "Marseillaise," the ferment continued until late in the evening.

A committee of the demonstrators was received by M. Barrere, the French ambassador, who expressed his appreciation for the sympathy of the Roman people.

The government endeavored by all means to prevent the demonstration. The stand that the government is taking is that although Italy is friendly to France, she does not wish to take sides in the dispute, especially when her relations with the church are better now than they have been since 1870.

The city has the appearance of being in a state of siege. Armed soldiers protect the Parliament buildings and embassies, as well as hold the streets and squares, while a number of others are held ready in houses and courtyards for use in case they are needed.

The commander of the Papal Gendarmes called on Cardinal Merry del Val this morning and asked for orders. The cardinal replied that he was to take no precautions. He was to leave the doors of St. Peter's open, as the government would keep order.

A communication issued at the Vatican today reiterates the previous statement given out there that the object of the search of the archives in the nunciature at Paris, after the expulsion of Mgr. Montagnini, was to diffuse false news in order to make the public believe that in the papers taken were "low insinuation of a money bargain for the appointment of bishops, gambling in the stock exchange, etc."

The communication repeats the Vatican's original denunciation of the tactics employed in securing the papers, and especially denounces what it terms efforts to make it appear as due to the negotiations of the Vatican of M. Montagnini some of the letters, which, it says, really may have been received and kept as documents but which no honest man could take as a basis for facts that did not exist. Such letters, it is declared, may even have been sent on purpose to M. Montagnini in order to have a dossier ready when the search was made.

With regard to the alleged arrangement with the Spanish ambassador at Paris for the care of the archives of the nunciature, the communication says that neither the Vatican nor the Spanish ambassador to the Vatican ever thought of communicating with the Spanish ambassador at Paris without first entering into an agreement.

ESTIMATED AT THOUSANDS.

Number of Polish Revolutionists Executed by Government Order.

WARSAW, Russian Poland, Dec. 15.—Reports from points throughout Russian Poland show that the government's policy of firmness has been successful in subduing the last of the smouldering sparks of revolution. This result was accomplished at a terrible cost to the Polish people, the number of victims being estimated at thousands. Business has become stagnant, the trades and industries are bankrupt and the masses are dispirited and in a state of lamentable poverty.

Today's reports from Czenstochowa, which is a typical Polish town, with a population of about 50,000, including many Jews, show that seven so-called terrorists have been tried by drumhead court-martial and executed during the last two days.

During the early part of last week five terrorists were tried, convicted and shot here, as also were three at Siradz, near Kalisz; two at Tomaszow and one at Lomza. These executions have been going on so constantly throughout Poland generally that it has become almost superfluous to report the daily chronicle of military executions.

Despite the depressing effect of this martial rule, the Poles are busily engaged in organizing their forces for the next Parliamentary elections. For the time being, party differences have been forgotten and the national spirit has brought about a merger of the three great Polish parties—Conservative, Progressive and Democratic. These are selecting fusion candidates, representing Polish national ideals.

The new Polish school system is also bringing out evidence of national energy, as the permission to establish private schools with Polish teachers has already resulted in the formation of 800 schools with an attendance of 75,000 Polish children.

Altogether, despite the darkness of the present martial conditions, the situation has been somewhat relieved by new evidences of the indomitable spirit of the Polish people asserting itself.

REPERTOIRE AGAIN.

This Week's Engagement at the Opera House the Aubrey Stock Company.

Another week of repertoire is booked for the local Opera House, the Aubrey Stock Company being the presenting company. This organization has played several engagements here and has always met a favorable reception. It will present several new plays and vaudeville acts.

This week's attractions in Providence are James J. Morton and others in vaudeville at Keith's, James Kenedy in repertoire at the Empire, and burlesque at the Westminster and Imperial.

The Boston theatres announce the following bills: Hollis Street, Viola Allen in "Cymbeline," Majestic, "Mrs. Dane's Defence;" Tremont, "Coming Thro the Rye;" Park, Clara Bloodgood in "The Truth;" Boston, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch;" Colonial, Elsie Janis in "The Vanderbilt Cup;" Castle Square, "The Rivals;" Bijou, "The School for Scandal;" Globe, "The Arrival of Kitty."

The new announcements in New York this week are "Colombe's Birthday" at the Hudson, Henry E. Dixey in "The Man on the Box" at the Lincoln Square, Dockstader's Minstrels at the New York and Wilton Lackaye in "The Law and the Man" at the Manhattan. The grand opera program at the Metropolitan Opera House is as follows: Monday, "La Boheme;" Wednesday, "Lohengrin;" Friday, "Aida;" Saturday afternoon, "La Damnation de Faust;" Saturday evening, "Tosca." The program at the Manhattan Opera House will be "Don Giovanni" Monday, "Aida" for the Saturday matinee and "Faust" for Saturday evening.

THE CONNECTICUT JOINS THE FLEET.

Completely equipped for service, the new battleship Connecticut left the New York navy yard for the first time Saturday, bound for Hampton Roads, Va., to join the Atlantic fleet. The Connecticut underwent all the tests of Her machinery at the yard. Her departure is the first instance in which a battleship has gone direct from the building yard to instant service. Naval Constructor Baxter, who has had charge of the completion of the Connecticut, said:

"Here goes out a ship which demolishes all the records of the world in naval construction. Not even Great Britain, the leading country in shipbuilding, has ever sent one of its battleships to sea without a preliminary deep water trial. But I know enough about the condition of the Connecticut to say that this very minute, though her prow has not yet cut the water of the Narrows, she is ready to whip any other battleship in the world, of course giving her a little practice with her guns."

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN W. BIGELOW.

Intelligence has been received here of the recent death in St. Louis of Mrs. John W. Bigelow. Mr. Bigelow formerly owned the estate on Washington street now owned by Mr. Charles Fairchild, and that place was the home for years of the Bigelow family. Mrs. Bigelow was of the Burton family of Worcester, and was a relative of Miss Clara Barton, the philanthropist. In the days of the Town and Country Club Mrs. Bigelow was a member, and she was well known and highly esteemed in Newport's cultivated circles generally. She had not been in Newport for a considerable number of years.

Since the marriage of her children she had made her home principally with them or in their neighborhood. She is survived by a son and two daughters. The elder daughter is the wife of Rev. John W. Day, at one time paster of the Channing Memorial Church in this city, now pastor of a Unitarian church in St. Louis, and it was at their home that Mrs. Bigelow died. The younger daughter is Mrs. Arthur R. Marsh, of Cambridge, Mass. By Mrs. Bigelow's expressed wish the remains have been cremated and brought East for interment.

TORPEDO BOATS SAIL ON UNKNOWN MISSION.

Five torpedo boats, the Stringham, the Wilkes, the Stockton, the Blakely and the DeLong, comprising the third flotilla passed out of the Virginia Capes from Norfolk Saturday afternoon. In the navy yard it was said the flotilla had been ordered to Key West to remain until further orders.

The sailing of the tiny sea fighters is regarded as significant in naval circles. The first two flotillas were sent from here to the Philippines several months ago. It was at first given out they were sent half-way around the world to test their sea-going qualities, but later it was said the vessels were to be used in the shallow waters in the Philippines where the heavier draught gunboats could not navigate.

This is the third flotilla to leave here, and it is thought by many that the five vessels will eventually be sent to the Far East. It is announced that 50,000 tons of coal are to be shipped at once from Norfolk and Baltimore to the naval station at Cavite.

THE TILTON-BIGELOW WEDDING.

In the chantry of Grace Church, New York, Saturday Miss Mildred Bigelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Poultney Bigelow and granddaughter of Mr. John Bigelow and also of the late E. S. Jaffray, was married to Mr. Newell W. Tilton of New York. It was a quiet wedding, relatives and intimate friends only being invited.

The chancel was decorated with pink begonias and Ascension lilies. The bride, who was given away by her father, made a pretty picture in a gown of white satin crepe de Chine trimmed with old lace and her veil, of tulle, was fastened with orange blossoms and the bridegroom's gift, a diamond horseshoe pin. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Bigelow's only attendant was Belle Ethel Harriman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who wore a gown of white chiffon cloth and a large hat of brown velvet, trimmed with brown feathers. She carried a muff of sable and on her arm a basket of mauve orchids. Mr. William Tilton acted as his brother's best man.

The ushers were Dr. Benjamin T. Tilton and Mr. John A. McVickar. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, 35 East Forty-ninth street.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Tilton will live at 7 East Thirty-second street.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Miss Braithwate of Newport preached at Friends' meeting Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman C. Main, who have been ill, are much better.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brayton entertained a whist party Saturday evening.

Dr. Minot A. Steele has returned from a trip to Arkansas, and Mrs. Steele from a trip to Haverhill.

The annual dance and supper of the Odd Fellows will be held the first week in January.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lavery have returned from a two months' absence abroad.

Mrs. Benjamin C. Sherman, who with her husband has been spending several weeks in New York and Pennsylvania, returned home Sunday. Mr. Sherman will soon follow.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Etta M. Sherman, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt has given to his next neighbor on the north, the Christian Church, the sum of $400, to be appropriated, through the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lambert, as most needed by the church.

It is expected to begin the Christmas decorations of St. Paul's Thursday morning.

Mr. John P. Dulce and his nephew, James P. Dulce of Muskegon, Mowa, are spending a few days in town.

Last Saturday Mr. Charles C. Hazard of this town celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday at the home of his son-in-law in Providence. The evening was spent with whist and other games, after which light refreshments were served. Among the party were some of his children and grandchildren and friends made since he went to Providence to live. He was given a handsome presen by the guests.

Honor is to be given to the minister in Baltimore who has closed his church against a whib which proposed to hold a ra e in it, and has also resigned the chaplaincy of the club. As for the other minister in the same city, who has invited the club to hold its raffle in his church, we should be interested to hear the next sermon he preaches against the sin of gambling.—[New York Tribune.

OLD DOWN-TOWN LANDMARK.

Police Gazette Building in New York Destroyed by Fire.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The Police Gazette building, an old down-town landmark, located at Pearl and Frankfort streets, was gutted by fire early today. The building was occupied by a number of manufacturing firms and the weekly newspaper from which it gets its name. Years ago, when the Police Gazette was widely recognized as the organ of all kinds of sports, the building was the scene of many memorable meetings of sporting men. Championship pugilistic events were practically all arranged there. John L. Sullivan, Paddy Ryan, Jake Kilrain, Charley Mitchell, George Dixon, Jack Dempsey and Jack McAuliffe were among the champion fighters who have met in the building and arranged matches. Richard K. Fox, who owned the Police Gazette erected the building, which in its day was one of the city's show places.

PERSONALS.

....Louis Weisshem of Boston has just celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his joining the Orpheus Club of that city.

....There is an epidemic of whooping cough at Georgian Court, the home of George J. Gould, at Lakewood, N. J. Mrs. Gould has it, and all the children, from Kingdon, the eldest, down to baby Gloria, are down with it. Mr. Gould has escaped thus far.

....Jeremiah Curtin, a distinguished linguist and philologist and well known also as a translator of Russian and Polish novels, is dead. Mr. Curtin was 66 years old. He was proficient in 70 languages, excelling as a linguist, it is said, any other man. As an author he was best known as the translator from the Polish of the works of Henryk Sienkiewicz.

....William F. Cody, who is interested in irrigation in the West, called at the White House Saturday to discuss the subject with the President and to invite him to go on a hunt in the Rockies. The President said he would like nothing better than to shoot big game, but did not see his way clear to make such an excursion for some time to come.

....The Pope received Cardinal Satolli, who was formerly papal delegate in the United States, Saturday. The cardinal explained the situation with regard to Catholicism in the United States, where there exists real separation between church and state, saying the benevolent attitude of the state toward religion resulted in the complete and dignified liberty of the church. "That," exclaimed the Pope, "is really a regime of progress."

....Mrs. Marie Robinson Wright, who has traveled more in South American republics and written more about them than any other woman in the world, has sailed for London, whence she will sail to Rio Janeiro, Brazil. She goes under an engagement of the Brazilian government to continue her work on a history of the Brazilian Republic. She has written histories of the Bolivian republic, Chili and Peru, and is also preparing a book upon Argentina.

RAIN DROPS.

[Isabella Howe Fiske, in Good Housekeeping.]

Many sing of sunshine; I would sing of rain—
Hearken to its music here against the pane.
Hear, without, the fields ashine with fulfilled desire.
Hear, within, the merry din of the open fire.
Much of good were never done
Did we always have the sun!

FANCIES.

"No matter what we do, there is one class of people who will always be after us."

"Who are they?"

"Posterity."—[Baltimore American.

Belle—Yes, I know Jack has his faults, but his heart is in the right place.

Maud—What makes you so sure?

Belle—He's given it to me.—[Boston Transcript.

"De man dat has actually done sumpin'," said Uncle Eben, "hab a right to brag a little bit. But I ain't got no patience at all wif de man dat brags 'bout what he's gwineter do."—[Washington Star.

Walker—What an absurd idea of yours that auto scorching makes for morality.

Ryder—Not at all. Isn't constant fear of death apt to make pedestrians awfully careful?—[Boston Transcript.

Visitor (to artist's young wife)—Whatever were you two laughing over so just now?

Wife—Oh, it was such fun! My husband painted and I cooked, and then we both guessed what the things were meant for.—[Fliegende Blatter.

"I'm sure I don't know what he saw in her. Her feet is decidedly plain."

"Yes, but the figure she has makes up for all that."

"You're wrong there. She has six figures, and the first one's a five."—[Philadelphia Press.

"Was that a serious call?" asked the nervous citizen.

"No," answered the driver of the automobile that had dashed madly down the street. "The case was not serious. But our trip was not in vain. We did good service on the return trip, picking up the pedestrians we had run into and people who had been thrown out by horses we scared."—[Washington Star.

TO CARRY OUT REFORMS.

Instructions Issued by Minister of War by Sultan of Morocco.

TANGIER, Dec. 15.—The representative of the Sultan of Morocco, Mohammed El Torres, today notified the diplomatic corps that the Sultan had instructed the minister of war, who is expected to arrive here shortly from Fez at the head of a body of troops, to co-operate in the carrying out of the reforms provided for by the Algeciras convention.

Raisuli, the brigand chief, it is said, has been promised a free hand outside Tangier if he does not interfere with the city proper.

THE ROOSEVELT DOVE OF PEACE.

Of course a German paper is not pleased that the Nobel peace prize was awarded to the President; the German press is not particularly pleased with anything we do, or with anything that happens to us, because not much that isn't good happens to us. But the particular ground on which the Tageblatt objects to the award of the Nobel prize is that the President uttered the sentiment that "a just war is better than a shameful peace," which it says would cause Nobel to turn over in his grave with horror.

Of course that is not the sentiment of the Society of Friends, and yet it may be questioned whether the Quakers have done much more than other people to bring warfare to an end. Things must be done by degrees in this life, and it is quite possible that the people who try to reduce the number of causes of war, who endeavor to delay a declaration of war, and who seek to bring a war to an end, do more to bring about the era of universal peace than those persons who will stop at no halfway house, but simply denounce all war. The Quakers who refused the use of their meeting house to the surgeons of Washington's army who desired it for a hospital were doubtless conscientious and consistent in their "testimony against war." Of course they would have offered no resistance if the surgeons had summoned soldiers and knocked in the door the key of which was refused to them. But it is doubtful whether the cause of universal peace is advanced by such extremists, to whom most of the human race will pay no attention whatever, more than by men who oppose war but yet regard it as sometimes justifiable, or the lesser of two evils.

Still, we may regret the expression attributed to the President, since most of what passes as national honor is only national pride, and what the President regards as a shameful peace is probably one to which the national pride receives a blow. The truth is that the President is very much the same sort of peace advocate as the Kaiser, or even Bismarck, the man of "blood and iron." He would rather get what he wants without war, but he would rather fight than not get it. Yet the fact is that the American government brought the war between Russia and Japan to a conclusion, and this was a great achievement for humanity, which the Norwegian parliament very properly recognized.

A CITY'S DEBT TO ITS BOYS.

At the recent gathering of social reformers in Boston the secretary of the state board of education of Massachusetts gave a forcible and sane address on the topic, "What a city owes to its boys," in which he asserted emphatically that a city has a duty to its boys and that it not seldom fails to fulfil that duty. He touched upon the natural love of a boy for the objects of nature and his disposition to try limbs if against all the forces of nature, and declared that this love is cramped and dwarfed and this disposition thwarted in city life. He explained the craving of boys to climb trees, throw stones and indulge in all such pastimes, and called attention to the little opportunity which a city boy has for such things. There are trees of course in the city, but he is forbidden to climb them; there are stones, but he must not throw them; there are other means for the natural enjoyment of boyhood, but they are practically all tabooed under the restrictions of city life.

Then he enforced the debt of the city to the boy, to provide him with playgrounds where he may enjoy all these things to which he is rightly entitled. Only by such an expedient as that, he declared, can the city repay the boy for the things of which he is deprived by the limitations of city life. In the playground the boy can find the opportunity for the expression of himself, for the exercise of his desire to test himself against the forces of nature. There he can climb trees, throw stones or indulge in any of the other pastimes dear to the heart of boyhood.

The speaker also showed a close connection between these restrictions of city life upon the conduct of the boy and the increased cost of policing a city. He expressed the belief that the latter is due to the fact that the city has not paid its debt to the boy and provided for him the opportunity and the place for gratifying his desire to play without violation of the statutes; in other words, because the city has failed to furnish playgrounds for the youth, where they can give free rein to their animal spirits without the danger of infringing upon the rights of others and overstepping the bounds of the law.

This is a strong argument for playgrounds in cities of considerable size, where there are large sections with practically no breathing spots or places for playing, and a severe arraignment of those municipalities of such a kind which do not provide opportunities for the youthful sports, which do not pay their debt to the children for circumscribing them with walls of wood and stone and with laws which keep them in restraint all the time or else in constant contempt and violation of the law. A boy, active and eager for fun and adventure, can find little material for it in the heart of a big city, and it is little enough that can be done to supply the lack through the medium of playgrounds.

If a large city is to have men of mettle and fibre it must give its boys opportunity to develop those qualities, and they can be best developed on the playground. It is not only a debt, therefore, which the city owes to its boys, to provide places for recreation for them, but a means of its own salvation and welfare. Without those opportunities the boys become wild and lawless and so increase the expense of the government, or else grow up weak and flabby in body and spirit and not at all the kind of men out of whom good citizens are made. The large city needs the playground, and also owes it to the boys as a part of its debt to them.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE CONGO.

There has been some question about the right of this country to interfere in the Congo affair, even if our officials were disposed to do so, because, while we participated in the conference at Berlin which sanctioned the creation of the Congo Free State, we did not sign the act. It is claimed, however, by advocates of intervention that by participating in a later agreement effected in Brussels regarding the slave trade we acquired a status which would justify our intervention in Belgian Africa.

At any rate, Senator Lodge has offered a resolution authorizing our government to co-operate with any other powers in compelling reform. This creates a presumption that the President and the Secretary of State are ready to act. Mr. Lodge's relations with the President are supposed to have been strained a little in the past year or two, but in view of his prominent position on the committee on foreign affairs it is hardly likely that he would have introduced such a resolution unless he knew it would be agreeable to the President to have the Senate adopt it. Whether their personal relations are strained or not their official relations are such that the Senator would hardly have offered this resolution without the approval of the President.

The reference to other powers is of course an allusion to the proposed action of England. This action was hinted in the ministerial speech at the lord mayor's banquet a month ago, and more plainly intimated by the minister for foreign affairs to a deputation which waited on him, which suggested the possibility that England might be obliged to act alone. But of course England would much rather act in connection with another power, and it is not unlikely that Mr. Lodge's resolution was offered after an interchange of views between the American and British governments. It is worth a passing notice that in Brussels it is common belief that the Congo concessions granted to Americans were designed to forestall American intervention.

THE PRICE OF MEAT IN GERMANY.

Germany is going to the dogs—for its meat. The representatives of the urban population show in the Reichstag that the price of meat in Germany is much higher than in the remainder of Europe, the working classes are reducing their consumption of animal food, which was never excessive, and the consumption of dogs and horses is increasing. But they have no effect upon the government, which is at present completely controlled by the great land owners, who desire high prices for meat, and for grain also, and who procured the recent increase of tariff dues for the express purpose of making prices higher.

Kentucky, which for years has been the recognized stronghold of Bourbon whiskey, is undergoing a remarkable change on the license question. Out of 119 counties in the state there are today 24 without saloons, 18 with saloons in only one place, eight with saloons in only two places and six where liquor is sold in only three places. Not one county is entirely "wet." The movement is spreading rapidly, 12 counties having been added to the no-license column within two months. Times are certainly changing.

To celebrate the joining of the sections of the East River tunnel between Manhattan and Brooklyn, so that the superintendent of construction could walk from one borough to the other under water, the shrill whistle in the yard of the tunnel company was blown continuously for ten minutes. Probably one who is "built without nerves" can have no conception of the agony caused by that whistle in unknown near-by homes where there were people ill or on the verge of collapse from nervous strain.

In spite of the fact that the stock exchanges are not opened Sundays, there was a decided slump in Wall Street yesterday. On account of a broken water main 75 feet of the asphalt pavement settled from two to 11 feet, blocking traffic and cutting off water and steam from many of the office buildings. Several of these are closed today for lack of heat and power.

Only Americans are to be allowed to bid for building the Panama canal. If the American bids are not satisfactory the competition will then be open to the world. There ought to be no doubt about Americans being able to do the work.

According to the report of General Murray, chief of artillery, the total cost of the present system of coast defenses of the United States is $72,750,853, and the estimated cost to complete the defense, including estimates for sites and guns, is $50,879,339. This is certainly millions for defense.

HOW THE SALMON IS CAUGHT.

Naturally, when so many salmon are caught, various ways are adopted to entrap the unwary fish. One of the unique sights on a trip down the Columbia river are the big fish wheels, which revolve slowly, operated by the current, and scoop up thousands of refugees. Another novel sight is that of horses and men breasting the current. These are drawing in the nets that have been set over night. Down around Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia, is the center of the Oregon salmon industry, and here the business is conducted almost entirely by Finnish fishermen, who fish three months of the year, make on an average $1,500 a season, and live on the proceeds until the next fishing time comes around. These fishermen use the same method of catching that they learned in their own country. Each man has a clumsy boat, 25 feet long, with a nine-foot beam. A spitsail is constructed so it can serve as a tent, when desired, and the boat puts off at night, drifts with the tide, and slowly erects a vast, floating fence as it pays out the seine. This fence is kept upright by floats on the top and weights at the bottom. When the men draw this in they have thousands of fine chinooks ready to be sent to the canning factory.

Further north, in Alaska, still other measures are employed, and it is a wonderful sight to see the seines set about the mouths of the rivers. Often the net is four or five thousand feet long. This is slowly set in the water by a steam tug, which makes a circuit near the mouth of a stream. After a few hours the seine is steadily drawn in by means of a steam windlass, and as it gradually approaches shore the fishermen put out in small boats and dip the salmon out of the water, the surrounding net keeping the fish in a small area. Later, the net is pulled entirely to the shore and the few remaining fish are removed with pitchforks. It frequently occurs that in one morning's work of this nature 15,000 fish are taken, and as the average length of a salmon is 20 inches, they form a huge pile as they lie in sheds, ready for the canning process. Usually a salmon weighs about 28 pounds, but some chinook salmon weigh 80 pounds. Naturally, this makes the seine so heavy that the process of bringing it in is by no means easy.

FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT.

Lincolnites and Citizens' Party Form Lincoln Union.

Its Aim to be the Purification of the Political Atmosphere of the State.

[Providence Journal.]

The Lincoln Union, a consolidation of the Lincoln party and the Rhode Island Citizens' Union, and the successor of both, has made its appearance on the horizon of political activity. With its advent the Lincoln party and the Goddard campaign committee, conspicuous factors in the last campaign in this state, go out of existence as such.

The less aggressive but equally earnest instrument for good government, the Rhode Island Citizens' Union, also loses its identity in the new coalition. The Lincoln Union, the new organization, aims to be all that either or both of its predecessors could have ever become as a factor in purifying the political atmosphere of the state and in advocating the election of the best men available to public office.

The determination to unify the forces for good government represented by these two organizations, whose aims are practically identical, was reached after several joint meetings of the Lincoln party committee and the executive committee of the Rhode Island Citizens' Union. All these meetings have been held since election. At the final joint meeting held a few days ago the consolidation was effected. A new executive committee of 10 members, comprising the five members of each of the two committees, was constituted and organized as follows: William L. Hodgman, chairman; John Doran, treasurer; Sam H. Bullock, secretary; Charles Sisson, Frank R. Reynolds, James H. Higgins of Pawtucket, Professor William MacDonald, Lewis A. Waterman, Rathbone Gardner and Albert H. Humes of Central Falls.

Of this committee Messrs. Hodgman, Doran, Sisson, Higgins and Reynolds were members of the Lincoln party committee, and Messrs. MacDonald, Waterman, Gardner, Humes and Bullock constituted the executive committee of the Rhode Island Citizens' Union. Sam H. Bullock, a member of the last-named committee and its secretary, was also secretary for the Lincoln party committee.

The new name, Lincoln Union, is a sort of compromise between the names Lincoln party and Citizens' Union. The name was adopted at the time the two committees voted to merge. Its significance is intended to be somewhat different from that of the name "Lincoln party." The purpose of the new union is said by members of the committee not to be necessarily the formation of an independent political party. Its purpose is set forth in the following declaration, which was adopted by the new committee of 10:

The object of this union shall be to continue the work of its predecessors in the cause of good government and in opposing corrupt machine methods in the political life of this state.

To this end it shall encourage and assist in the nomination and election of candidates for public office who are independent of any boss and who favor the enactment and enforcement of laws which will return to the people themselves the governing power.

"The Lincoln Union will have a more perfect organization and carry on its work in a more thorough and systematic manner than the Lincoln party was enabled to," said Sam H. Bullock, the secretary, last evening. "It is intended to form later a state committee, composed of representative men in each city and town in the state, whose province will be to prosecute the work of the union in the different localities. It is the intention to constitute this a permanent committee. The divorcing of the term 'party' from the Lincoln Union, and likewise the idea of making it something besides a political party, will enable us to secure affiliation with many representative and influential men all over the state, whose unwillingness to rank themselves out of the political parties with which they have been identified, operated during the recent campaign to hold them aloof, at least to all outward appearances, from furthering the efforts of the Lincoln party."

Until such time as the proposed state committee shall be organized the present executive committee of 10 will direct the policies and endeavors of the Lincoln Union. It is proposed to take an active part in molding public opinion and shaping legislation in the direction of certain much-talked-of reforms during the coming session of the General Assembly.

DEAD PEARLS.

It is a curious predicament in which the directors of the museum where reposes the famous "Mme. Thiers' pearl necklace" find themselves. According to the New York Tribune this splendid ornament composed of 145 pearls and valued at about $60,000, is said to be "dying," that is to say, the pearls are slowly turning black and "perishing," and the only way to save it seems to be to give someone the privilege of wearing it. To be worn next the skin—that, oddly enough, is the course of treatment which pearl doctors prescribe as the only means of saving the necklace. The museum is anxious to sell it before its value is too seriously impaired, but this the Thiers family will not hear of, the necklace being part of the legacy left to the French Republic by President Thiers.

DEATHS IN NOVEMBER.

The Smallest Rate, with the Exception of July, of Any Month in the Present Year.

Only 21 deaths were reported in Newport in November, according to the monthly report of the Board of Health. This is a smaller number than in any one month in 1902 and 1905, than every month, excepting October and November, in 1904; than every month, excepting January and June, in 1903, and the smallest with one exception, the month of July, in the present year. In these months there were 20 deaths in October and 21 in November in 1904; 20 in January and 17 in June, 1903, and 20 in July, 1906. The number is considerably below the average for November, the number in that month in five years being 31 in 1902, 29 in 1903, 25 in 1904, 27 in 1905 and 21 in 1906, an average for the month being 25.8. If the deaths for December are no more numerous than in the past Decembers, the total number of deaths in Newport for the year will be one of the smallest on record. The 21 deaths is equivalent, in an estimated population of 25,000, to an annual death rate of 9.68 in each 1,000 inhabitants, a remarkably low rate.

The 21 deaths were from 18 different causes, the largest number from any one cause being four from senile debility or old age. There were three from cerebral congestion and hemorrhage, two each from tubercle of the lungs, organic diseases of the heart and broncho-pneumonia, and one each from diphtheria, diabetes, alcoholism, pneumonia, other diseases of respiratory apparatus, Bright's disease, congenital debility and accidental traumatisms.

Of the 21 decedents seven were males and 14 females, 19 were white and two colored, four were single, 12 married, four widowed and one divorced.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mrs. Livingstone, president of the Rhode Island Woman's Christian Temperance Union, addressed the local members and their friends at the home of Mrs. E. Cottrell on Brooks street, Saturday afternoon, at a meeting of the union at which several new members were taken in. Mrs. Livingstone also gave an interesting address in the Central Baptist Church last evening.

A large volume of smoke coming from one of the buildings on the Torpedo Station led the passengers on the one o'clock ferry today to believe that a fire was in progress. It was evidently caused by the ignition of chemicals.

Mrs. E. Hazzard, who has been guest of Mrs. E. N. Teft, has returned to Point Judith.

Messrs. C. E. Weeden, Frederic Anthony and B. S. Cottrell left yesterday on a short trip to New York.

Miss Mabel Eaton is visiting relatives in Saunderstown.

The bad weather Saturday and again today has interfered with the Christmas shoppers visiting Newport.

Fort Greble has received official notice from the weather bureau of the approach of a severe northeast storm.

BERMUDA THE ONIONLESS.

[Travel Magazine.]

If you just go to Bermuda for the onions, you had better stay at home, because all the onions are exported. But if you can make up your mind to do without onions, you will have a splendid time. In the first place, there are no railroads, and, oh, blessed thought! no trolleys on the islands. You can forget the hurry and the fret and rest tired nerves. You can bathe, you can sail on the wonderfully clear, still water within the rampart of coral, you can fish, and look through water glasses 30 feet down on the teeming life under the sea. The Bermuda boats are rigged with something which is almost a balloon jib and a leg-o'-mutton, or jib-headed mainsail, and they are of very deep draft. But they work pretty handily, and will stand up and sail fast in rough water, so that you can take them out beyond the protected water without fear. At any rate, they add to the attractiveness of the islands to everybody who cares for sailing.

CHOOSING WALLPAPER.

When about to have a room repapered take into consideration the size of the room, the height of the ceiling and the number and arrangement of the windows, as well as the use to which the room is put and the probable number and kinds of pictures you intend to hang upon the walls.

Small patterns add to the apparent size and are good in a small room. Striped effects give height and should be employed where the ceilings are unduly low. Plain papers are also suitable in small rooms and are best calculated to show off engravings to good advantage.

Where the ceiling is unusually high and a plain paper has been used a dado of a contrasting or harmonizing color, run about the top, just under the ceiling molding, improves matters.

Yellow paper lights up a dark room or one with a northern exposure beautifully. Red paper is charming in a library where the woodwork is dark and too sharp a contrast to the dingy covering of many beloved books must be avoided, but it has a tendency toward darkening the room if the windows are not advantageously arranged.

Green paper combined with white paint is delightful in a sunny room of southern exposure, but green paper is usually a fortunate choice, for it can almost always be made to harmonize with the other furnishings.

Paper carried over the ceiling gives a better effect than if the ceiling is cateimined, and adds to the apparent loftiness of the apartment.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Miss Mary Thrasher, who is ill with typhoid fever, remains about the same.

—Yesterday Messrs. Alfred G. and Reginald C. Vanderbilt left, on the former's private car Wayfarer.

—J. H. Cheney and W. A. Tarbell of Boston and W. G. Weld of Concord, N. H., are registered at the Perry House.

—A schooner load of brick is discharging at the Torpedo Station for Darling & Slade, who have the contract for an addition to the paint shop.

—Rev. C. A. Stenhouse, president of the Rhode Island Sunday School Association, will make an address at the eleventh annual convention at Westerly this evening.

—After the basket ball game at the armory Saturday night the Naval Reserves team and substitutes were given a supper by the management, in recognition of their good work.

—The work on the new cottage on Ocean avenue for Mr. Edward S. Hawson has so far advanced that Messrs. P. J. Murphy & Co. have begun on the contract for the plumbing of the cottage.

—Today's arrivals at the United States Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pye of Providence, G. Storer of New York and Samuel Miller, John Nalon and William Vail of the Aubrey Stock Company.

—In illustration of the lecture by Captain Calkins, U. S. N., before the Natural History Society, on "The Trade Winds, the Gulf Stream and the Track of Piracy," some valuable charts and maps will be shown.

—There will be two basket ball games this week which will prove drawing cards. Wednesday night the team of battleship Rhode Island will play the Naval Reserves and Friday night the Holy Cross College team will play its annual game with the St. Joseph Holy Name.

—Agent Gardner at the New York, New Haven & Hartford freight shed has notices posted, stating that Christmas is to be as nearly as possible a holiday for freight business and there will be no freight trains in or out of the boat business will be about all that will be done.

—The second dance of the Fort Adams Amusement Association will be held in the new gymnasium Wednesday night. The men are soaring neither trouble nor expense to make it as great a success as the first one. A special launch will leave Kinsley's wharf for the fort, returning after the dance.

—Mr. Henry V. Stanley was given a surprise party at his home on Wellington avenue last week in honor of his birthday. Music for dancing was furnished by Mrs. L. M. Young on the piano and Mr. William J. Lynch on the violin, and several vocal solos were given by the host as well as others present.

—Advices from the Newport Hospital this afternoon were to the effect that Mrs. James J. Rooney had a comfortable night, slept well, and there was no tangible reason for the disquieting reports which have been in circulation since the set-back she had late Saturday. However, her condition is said to be serious.

—The Aubrey Stock Company announces Tuesday as souvenir night, when a silver spoon will be given to every woman having a 50-cent seat. Saturday night the drawing for the gold watch will take place. The souvenirs and the watch are on exhibition in the window of a Thames Street store.

—The wreck of barge Buena Ventura, lost off Montauk point about a week ago with one of her crew, was blown up Sunday by the men of revenue cutter Mohawk, which was in last week to obtain gun cotton for that purpose from the Torpedo Station. The masts were blown out and the deck blown up, so that the wreck is no longer a menace to navigation.

—Mayor-elect William P. Clarke is reported as improved today. A week ago he was confined at home by a cold, but last eWdnesday was out again. He seemed to have caught more cold and the latter part of last week his condition was considered quite serious. There were fears of pneumonia, and in addition the cold settled in an old strain, adding a complication which caused some concern.

—Superintendent of Schools Lull has on exhibition in his office a pretty little calendar pad made by Miss Margaret Voisin of grade VII, Lenthal school. The children of this school made these pads as a part of their drawing lesson and Miss Voisin made an additional one for Superintendent Lull. The design shows a stone windmill in operation and gives a good idea of the skill of the pupils.

—The Enterprise Steamboat Company has still another lawsuit on its hands on account of its Jamestown trade. Miss Theresa Garvey of Fall River says she bought a ticket for Jamestown August 22 last, and when Jamestown was reached the gang plank was taken in before the passengers could go ashore, and she was one of them. Four were left, two jumped ashore, and one has already recovered damages from the company.

JAPANESE HAVE FULL LIBERTY.

In Whatever Relates to Rights of Residence Have Equal Privileges With Californians.

Mr. Sidney Webster is quoted in a despatch to the Boston Transcript as saying that it is very plain that the clause of the treaty of 1894 gave to the Japanese full liberty to reside in the United States, and also "in whatever relates to rights of residence" gave to Japanese the same privileges, liberties and rights in California that Californians have.

"Residence," he said, "has a well defined meaning in public law. What is its legal relations—the sum of its rights and duties—in respect to public schools? Very unlike, perhaps, in different states. Here, in Newport, for example, everybody having under his control a child between the ages of seven and 15 must, with exceptions immaterial to the present controversy, send the child to the public school. A Japanese father resident in Newport must send his child to school. The child cannot be excluded from school, excepting by a general rule applicable to everyone. The legal relation of residence to going to school is thus obvious in Rhode Island. It can, of course, be modified by the legislature, unless in particulars, which the treaty of 1894 constitutionally forbids as to Japanese.

"What interpretations does public law give to the words, "in whatever relates to rights of residence? What interpretation did the negotiators, signatories and ratifiers of the treaty give to them? If the treaty was concluded in 1894, Cleveland was President, Gresham or Olney was Secretary of State when it was exchanged and many Senators are now in Washington who participated in its ratification. What meaning did they give to the critical words? Did Japan intimate a different meaning, or any special meaning? Inasmuch as all treaties made, 'under the authority of the United States'—'all,' and not merely some of them—are the supreme law of the land, repealing all conflicting laws whether national or state, it will naturally be everywhere assumed that the authority of the United States at Washington will not be in a hurry to plead the baby act and unconstitutionality of the treaty, because it may impair the sovereign right of California to modify her school laws. Mr. Calhoun, in his dissertation on the American government, argued that the treaty-making power is so limited that it cannot do anything contrary to an implied prohibition of the constitution nor change the character or general structure of any of the constitutional functions of the several states—a thorough vindication by the present administration."

SPANISH POLITENESS.

[London Tribune.]

It has been said that the French are the most polite people in the world writes our lady correspondent in San Sebastian, but I do not think anyone who really knows them will agree. However, they have some charming little ways, and when they are rude it is because they are, deep down, thoroughly selfish.

My personal opinion is that the Spaniard is about the most delightfully polite person one can possibly encounter. If you ask your way in the street, of some ordinary woman, she will almost certainly go out of her way to accompany you down the street and to carefully put you on the right road. They are very cheerful and gay, but they are never vulgar—as we understand the word in England. Even the men in the streets, who stand and frankly stare at a pretty girl do it in a light-hearted, pleasant way which does not give offence. As to the manners of Spanish men belonging to the best society, they are almost perfect. Watch a Spaniard of distinction address his mother or any elderly lady and you will see a manner which is tender and caressing, and at the same time exquisitely protective.

WORK OF GREEK DRAMATIST DISINTERRED.

Inspector Lefebre, of the Egyptian Department of Antiquities, has disinterred a large number of leaves of papyrus of the codex Menander, containing over 1,300 lines. The leaves are not continuous, but there are 500 lines from each of two plays. Two more plays are presented by smaller quantities. These will enable modern scholars for the first time to form an independent judgment of the style and genius of the famous Greek comic dramatist.

TWO YEARS IN STATE PRISON.

Sentence Imposed on George Burnham, Jr., for Larceny.

NEW YORK, D.c. 17.—George Burnham, Jr., general counsel for the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company, recently convicted of larceny, today was sentenced to serve two years in state prison.

Sentence was passed by Justice Greenbaum in the supreme court.

Immediately after sentence was pronounced Burnham's counsel went before Justice O'Gorman and procured an order to show cause why a certificate of reasonable doubt should not issue. The order is returnable next Thursday.

The indictment of Burnham, together with his brother, Frederick A. Burnham, president of the Mutual Reserve, and George D. Eldridge, a vice president of the company, resulted from disclosures made at the legislative insurance investigation of a year ago. The specific charge upon which Burnham was convicted was the larceny of $7,500 of the company's funds by paying that amount to counsel representing Jam s D. Wells in settlement of a loan of $5,575, alleged to have been made by Wells to President Frederick A. Burnham. President A. Burnham and George D. Eldridge are now awaiting trial.

Justice Greenbaum after passing sentence on Burnham granted a motion for a stay of execution until next Thursday, when counsel for the prisoner will present papers in an appeal which is to be taken.

THE LUMBER TRUST NEXT.

Congress to Investigate the Increase in Prices.

Navy Protection for Pacific Coast Under Discussion—Strengthening Defenses May Avert Hostilities.

[Washington correspondence of the News]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The proposed investigation of the so-called lumber trust which is called for in resolutions offered by Senator Kittredge of South Dakota and Representative Miller of Kansas is perhaps of more general interest than any similar movement which has been set on foot since the present agitation against great combinations of capital commenced. The only investigation that approached it in this respect was that of the alleged beef trust. A large percentage of the people in the United States do not use any of the products of the Standard Oil company, for instance, and so are not directly interested in the prices charged by that concern, but nearly everybody eats meat, and everybody is interested in the cost of commodities said to be controlled by the lumber trust. Everybody sits in a chair and eats from a table or writes from a desk, or in some other way is concerned as to whether the cost of wood manufactures is high or low.

Mr. Kittredge and Mr. Miller appreciate this and are therefore of the opinion that something should be done at once. Prices are admittedly higher than in former years, and the purpose of the proposed investigation, if it is inaugurated, will be to disclose whether or not the increase is justified by conditions. Many members of Congress are of the opinion that some very grave injustices will be uncovered if the matter is gone into thoroughly.

The so-called Japanese scare seems to have passed over entirely. The legislators from California are not talking about the President's message, which they so vigorously resented at first—that is, the part of it relating to the Japanese and those prophets who persisted in declaring that the President was negotiating a new treaty with Japan, despite denials from the highest possible source, have at last quieted down. So there is still an undercurrent of opinion to the effect that sooner or later we shall have trouble with Japan.

When Representative Kahn of California introduced a bill appropriating $5,660,000 for the construction of submarine torpedo boats to be stationed along the Pacific coast, he specifically disclaimed any thought of hostilities with Japan in the near future. Yet of course the friction over the Japanese school question in San Francisco and the general "coolness" of the Japanese in the far West, to use a term which Californians say best describes the attitude of the Nipponese out there, were the factors which led him to introduce the bill.

Diplomatically the situation is quite serene. The Japanese have been much impressed by President Roosevelt's warm expressions in his message. That is exactly the effect he wishes to produce, so if there is an understanding between him and the California Congressmen conditions may be said to be satisfactory all around. Still many believe it is unwise in the extreme to leave our long Pacific coast line as nearly unprotected as it is, and there are numerous evidences that authorities generally are in favor of preparing for possible war in these piping times of peace, instead of being in the nature of a defiance they believe that the strengthening of our west coast defenses will go further toward averting hostilities in the future than any amount of diplomacy.

Not a great deal of work will be done in the few days which intervene between this date and adjournment for the Christmas holidays. The legislative appropriation bill, which was reported a week ago, will have been sent over to the Senate from the House when the recess is taken, but aside from that little important legislation will have been enacted. The legislators will assemble again January 3 after the two weeks' holiday, and then they will have to get down to business in earnest in order to get through with what must be done before March 4.

BRITISH CABINET CHANGES.

Prime Minister Remains, But Resignations of Several Rumored.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The first of the impending changes in the cabinet, to be announced is the resignation of J. E. Ellis, Parliamentary secretary to the India Office. He is leaving on account of ill health and is going abroad to recuperate. It is understood Walter Runciman, Parliamentary secretary to the local government board, will succeed him.

Nothing is definitely known concerning other changes, but it is stated that the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Privy Seal, and Sir H. Fowler, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, will resign and it is rumored that Herbert Gladstone will leave the home office.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman however, according to the latest political gossip, has decided to remain in the house of Commons, in view of a fiscal attack that is about to be made on the upper house.

Everything, however, appears to bring on James Bryce's acceptance of the post of ambassador to the United States. The British press is now beginning to regard Mr. Bryce's acceptance as a foregone conclusion.

Among the notable rumors concerning cabinet changes is one pointing to John Burns for promotion. He is even named as the successor of Mr. Bryce as chief secretary for Ireland. In any case, he has been so successful in Pye present there as president of the board of control that he is regarded as in no way unlikely to be promoted.

THE PRIZE DOLL AND AUTOMOBILE.

The children were out in full force at the Opera House Saturday afternoon for a chance for the doll and the automobile offered by the Harvey Stock Company as prizes. Numbers were issued to all persons entering the house for the matinee performance and it seemed as if every child who could reach the Opera House was there, and judging from the noise and applause they thoroughly enjoyed the performance.

Between the third and fourth acts Mr. Harvey stepped to the front of the stage with the large doll and the automobile, which had been on exhibition in the Santa Claus window of the A. C. Titus Company. A boy from the audience went on the stage and drew No. 123 for the doll, and as Miss Mary O'Brien of 359 Thames street was the lucky little girl she stepped to the stage and received her prize. When she took the doll in her arms it was hard telling which was which, as they were both about the same size. Mr. John Garner held No. 273 and took the automobile. The machine may be handy for some of his children, but he can hardly use it himself, as he has passed the age for toys.

TROUBLE ON THE RHODE ISLAND.

Lieutenant Commander L. J. Clark who has been for some months executive officer of battleship Rhode Island, now at the Boston navy yard, has received orders detaching him from that ship and ordering him to command naval supply ship Celtic at Havana. It is stated that there will be other important changes among the officers of the Rhode Island, which has not been the smoothest running or most popular ship in the navy for some time, and from which a new record for desertions has been established, it is stated.

LINCOLN'S OX YOKE.

The University of Illinois has lately added a number of relics to its Abraham Lincoln collection. Among other treasures in the university's possession is an ox yoke made by Lincoln at New Salem, Ill., in 1830, when he was 21 years old. It remained there until 1849, just after Lincoln's return from his only term in Congress. Then Lincoln and his brother-in-law, Clark M. Smith, visited New Salem together. While there the two attended an auction sale of farm chattels, among which was the ox yoke. When the yoke was offered for sale it was treated as a novelty, because made by a Congressman. Lincoln acknowledged having made the yoke, and Mr. Smith bid it off, saying "It was worth taking home as a souvenir because made by his brother-in-law and a member of Congress."

A HARROWING TALE.

Constant pains all over, the heart weak, the nights sleepless, choking sensations, a loss of strength and flesh. These are among the many symptoms of indigestion and Dyspepsia.

The following letter is one of many which show conclusively how Dr. Richards' Dyspepsia Tablets will remove the effects by curing the cause.

"I was a victim of indigestion for more than ten years and could not retain solid food on my stomach. I became nervous and my appetite left me altogether. I doctored and tried many medicines to no avail until finally upon the advice of an acquaintance I procured a bottle of Dr. Richards' Dyspepsia Tablets at W. H. Cotton's Drug Store. This remedy seemed to be just what my stomach needed. In a short time my digestive organs were greatly strengthened and my general health improved rapidly. My wife was also relieved of a bad case of constipation by the little Yellow Lozenges which come with these tablets."

HIGHEST GLEE!

Is this dear St. Nick. You should see the jolly, rollicksome old fellow at some of his childish pranks. You can't turn your head but he's playing peek-a-boo with you with some delightfully pretty little gift thought that looks a dollar but costs a dime and is really as good as it looks. Never has a year's wandering brought him as much real pleasure as the past one. Never have his workmen put so much beauty, so much refinement into the really little priced things as for this year's jubilee. Look where you will, and look you should, you'll not find the place where the hard earned, hard-to-be spared dollars can be exchanged for so much that's worthy the giving as at Santa's big Fairy City.

Kid's Furniture.

Wants to be a man so soon, does he? A regular business kid, well here's something that'll please that youngster way down to the ground.

A Desk,

Flat top, with lid that raises, a blackboard underneath to scribble on, and a place under that to keep all sorts of books, pencils and toys in, 95c

A Roll top, like dad's, with drawers and pigeon hole, $3.90

Perhaps she's sober minded, likes to read and take it easy, or perhaps she's just like mother—industrious, then here's a present for such a one.

Beaten Brass.

Here's where dear old Santa has just laid himself out. Of course you know how beautiful it is, and do you remember how costly you've always found it? Well, Santa's had his own beators beating like mad this past year—Santa's price is about 2-3 what other people's is.

Magnificent urn shaped umbrella vases, with the real Russian Eagle Crest, 23 in. high, $12.00

Large Bowl Jardinieres with side handles and on heavy ball feet—16 inches in diameter, $8.00

Catarrh

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing rapidly through druggists, small Free Trial Bottles of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means use internally Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Sour stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but officers more active and more experienced in their duties, is to invite disaster.

The following table gives the ages of the youngest captains and flag officers with the average years in grade in the navies of Great Britain, France, Germany, Japan and the United States:

	Age.	Av. Yrs. in Grade.
Captains.
Great Britain,	35	11.2
France,	47	9.5
Germany,	42	6.2
Japan,	38	8.0
United States.	55	4.5
Sea-Going Flag Officers.
Great Britain,	45	8.0
France.	55	14.2
Germany,	51	6.0
Japan.	14	11.0
United States.	59	1.5

The facts shown in this table are startling and earnest attention is invited to them.

The Secretary of the Navy several months ago convened a board of six representative line officers, with the assistant secretary of the navy as president, to consider and recommend such changes in existing law relative to the commissioned personnel of the line of the navy as would tend to promote efficiency and economy. The essential recommendations of the board have been cordially approved by the Secretary. The bill, herewith transmitted to the Congress, has been formulated by the Secretary, and is based, except in a few details, upon the recommendations of the board. I earnestly recommend its early consideration. Should it be enacted into law it will cause officers in the sea-going list to reach the grade of captain at 48 and rear admiral at 55, and will assure their serving seven years in the grade of captain and seven years in the grade of rear admiral, thus enabling them to become thoroughly skilful and efficient in these grades.

The accompanying bill also establishes the grade of vice admiral. This grade has long existed in all other principal navies of the world, in order to obtain a selected grade of skilled commanders in chief. The commander-in-chief of a fleet, with one or more rear admirals serving under him is logically entitled to a higher rank than his subordinates because of his greater authority and responsibility. On occasions of official importance of international council, or of combined naval action (as for instance the Boxer troubles in China) the interests of this great nation demand that our naval representative shall rank as the equal of the naval representatives of other powers.

Moreover under the accompanying bill, which is the result of the recommendations made a board principally composed of naval officers, a large per centage of the officers are eliminated from the sea-going list and never reach the grade of rear admiral. When it is considered that the naval officers themselves recommend, in order to increase the efficiency of their service, that many be denied their existing privilege of reaching flag rank, it is only just to them that we should place their highest officers on a plane of equal rank with their colleagues of other nations with whom they are so frequently brought in official contact.

If the proposed plan of promotion is carried out, it will, as compared with existing law, make a saving of more than $5,000,000 during the next seven years. The principal part of this saving is made by stopping the voluntary retirement of young lieutenant commanders with the rank and pay of commanders upon the retired list.

I am firmly of the opinion that unless the present condition of the higher commissioned personnel is rectified by judicious legislation, the future of our navy will be gravely compromised.

I forward herewith a letter of the Secretary of the Navy, enclosing duplicate drafts of the proposed bill. I also forward a copy of the report of the personnel board of the navy.

Father Guertin Proposed as Bishop of Manchester, N. H.

ROME, Dec. 17.—Under the presidency of Cardinal Gotti, prefect of the propaganda, the congregation of the propaganda met today to appoint a new Bishop of Manchester, New Hampshire, to succeed the late Rt. Rev. J. B. Delaney. Cardinal Satolli was charged to make a report, setting forth the merits of the candidates, Rev. D. F. Feehan of Springfield, Very Rev. Eugene M. O'Callaghan of Manchester, N. H., Rev. William P. McQuaid of Boston and Rev. A. Guertin, rector of St. Anthony's Church, Manchester.

After a long discussion the congregation of the propaganda decided to propose to the Pope that he appoint the Rev. Father Guertin. Father Guertin was proposed chiefly to please the French Canadians, who supported him strongly.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17, Wall Street—The stock market opened irregular, with Amalgamated Copper at 114½, American Smelting 152, American Locomotive 73¼, Anaconda 261, Atchison 102¾, Baltimore & Ohio 117¾, Brooklyn Transit 82, Canadian 198½, Colorado Fuel & Iron 56¾, Erie 44½, Louisville 147½, Missouri Pacific 94¾, New York Central 132, Northern Pacific 242, Norfolk & Western 92¼, Pennsylvania 138¾, Reading 167¾, Rock Island 30¾, Sugar 134¾, St. Paul 197, Southern Railway 33¾, Southern Pacific 94½, Union Pacific 183¾, United States Steel 48¾, United States Steel preferred 104½.

11—Furious buying of St. Paul, which lifted it 3 points, apparently aroused misgivings among the traders as to the purport of the move, for there was wholesale selling of other stocks, principally Union Pacific, Reading and the Hill group. The pessimists were better supported, but trading in them was much restricted. Northern Pacific fell off 2¾, Great Northern preferred and Delaware & Hudson 2½, Union Pacific 2 and Reading 1¾. St. Paul receded 1¾, but at 195 was rising buoyantly again and had reached 196¾. The balance of the list was steadier, but only a trifle above the lowest.

Money—Money on call, strong at 12 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 6 @ 6½ per cent. St. Paul moved feverishly over a range of more than two points below the highest. There was free liquidation elsewhere which was heavy in Union Pacific, Reading and United States Steel. Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific declined 4½ and 4¾ respectively, Great Northern Ore certificates 3, Union Pacific 2½, Reading 2 and various stocks about a point. The market steadied and became semi-stagnant at noon. Bonds were heavy.

BURCHARD FOR SPEAKER.

Colonel Bliss Retires from Contest and Indications Point to Choice of Little Compton Member.

Colonel Zenas W. Bliss of Cranston, for two years past the chairman of the house committee on finance and one of the Republican party leaders in the General Assembly, has withdrawn from the race for the position of Speaker of the house. Present indications point to the choice of Roswell B. Burchard of Little Compton for the position. Next Thursday there is to be a conference of the members of the house elected as Republicans to discuss the candidate for Speaker. As usual everything points to a harmonious meeting, with a majority vote for R. B. Burchard. There may be some opposition, but not of a serious nature. The Newport members may give a complimentary vote for Robert S. Burlingame, who is a brother of ex-Speaker Joseph P. Burlingame.

Mr. Burchard has been identified with the good roads legislation, which was very popular with the country towns, but to offset that was the chairman of the committee on special legislation, which was regarded as the graveyard of several matters the party did not care to take a stand upon on the floor of the house. If elected he will be the first Speaker from the southerly section of the state since George H. Utter, who held the position in 1888-9. The last one from Newport county was John P. Sanborn, the present senator from this city, who was Speaker in 1881-2.

FLAG RANK AT THE NAVAL STATION.

The coming detachment of Admiral Thomas from command of the Second Naval District will for a brief period lower Narragansett bay from the rank of a flag station, but only for a few months if the present program is carried out. Captain J. P. Merrill of the War College is slated for the command of the district, and should rise to the rank of admiral July 6 by the ordinary course of retirements of those above him. The Station here has become too important for the department to abandon it as one of flag rank, and it hardly seems likely that there will come a time again, except for temporary periods, when an officer of high rank will not be stationed here, with a general command of all the stations, giving the bay the dignity of a flag station. So long as this is a flag station it is an honor port, where foreign ships of war upon visiting are expected to give and receive the courtesies provided by regulations.

A LIGHT SNOWSTORM.

After having escaped the snow which has prevailed all about here, Newport had a snow storm today. It was not a blizzard or anything like a blizzard—just a plain, easy-going snow fall. It started early, and not working at too high a pressure it looks as though it might last late. At times there were signs of stopping, but then the snow would come down again as though there never had been a falter in the matter. By noon perhaps an inch or so had fallen, and after 1 the snow seemed to be coming down a trifle faster than before. At first there was no attempt at clearing the snow from sidewalks, but after a while the storekeepers began to work and easily cleared the walks in front of their places of business. This is the kind of weather which makes Christmas trade, even if the walking is not so good as it was last week. The snow shows that Christmas is really coming soon.

CENTENARIANS.

A German statistician who made inquiries to find out in which European country people live longest arrived at the following conclusion: Germany, with her 55,000,000 inhabitants, has only 78 persons who have passed the age of 100, while France, with her population of 40,000,000, has 213 centenarians. England has 146, Scotland 46, Denmark 2, Belgium 5, Sweden 10, and Norway, with her 2,300,000 inhabitants, has 23. Switzerland cannot boast of a single one, but Spain counts 410 among her 18,000,000 population. The number of centarians is astonishing in the Balkan states. Servia has 573, Roumania, 1,084, and Bulgaria beats the record with 3,883—one to every 100 inhabitants.

CABINET MEMBERS EXCHANGE PLACES.

ing the robes of his new office, the Attorney General was accompanied into the court chamber by his associates, and after Chief Justice Fuller had proclaimed the presence of a new justice, the clerk of the court administered the oath and Mr. Moody immediately took up his new duties. A short time later Secretary Bonaparte was sworn in as Attorney General in the presence of the full bench of the supreme court. Secretary Metcalf and Mr. Straus took their oaths in the departments which they will direct. Both cabinet members spent considerable time in receiving congratulations and becoming acquainted with the personnel of their respective departments.

Oscar S. Straus was inducted into the office of Secretary of Department of Commerce and Labor, in pursuance of re-arrangement of the cabinet, recently made by President Roosevelt. The ceremony took place in the Secretary's office at the department. Both Secretary Metcalf, who retired from the department today, and Secretary Straus made brief addresses, following which they held an informal reception of the bureau heads.

Secretary Metcalf then went to the Navy Department, in company with Secretary Bonaparte. The oath of office was administered by Solicitor Rana of the Navy Department in the presence of Assistant Secretary Newberry, Rear Admiral Rixey, surgeon general of the navy; Assistant Secretary Murray of the Department of Commerce and Labor and the bureau chiefs of that department who went to the Navy Department in a body after Mr. Straus had been inducted into office.

Secretary Bonaparte congratulated the new Secretary and Secretary Metcalf briefly responded, declaring that he always had taken interest in the American navy.

The Secretary then received the officers and employes of the Navy Department.

Charles J. Bonaparte, the retiring Secretary of the navy, later took the oath as Attorney General of the United States and immediately entered upon his duties. The oath was administered in the presence of his predecessor, William H. Moody, and the principal officers of the Department of Justice. Attorney General Bonaparte declared that he would be guided in the performance of his duties by the example and counsel of his predecessor.

William H. Moody, formerly Attorney General, today entered upon his duties as an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, thus bringing the court up to its full membership. He was inducted to office at the beginning of today's sitting of the court.

Having taken the regular oath of office in the robing room, he was preceded into the court chamber by all the other members of the tribunal. When he reached the desk of the clerk of the court he stopped, while the other members continued to their seats. Mr. Moody was garbed, as were the other Justices, in a long flowing robe, and prepared to begin the duties of his office when the ceremony of inauguration had been completed.

As soon as the opening of the session had been announced by the court crier, Chief Justice Fuller proclaimed the presence of the new associate, saying that it gave him pleasure to present him to the members of the bar. The clerk then read Mr. Moody's commission and administered to him a second oath, commonly known as the judicial oath. He was then escorted to his seat on the extreme left of the bench, and after the chief justice and all the associates had bowed to him and Justice Holmes, his immediate neighbor, had extended the hand of welcome, the court proceeded with the business of the day.

Former Secretary Bonaparte was then introduced to the court as the new Attorney General by the solicitor general.

Reserves Won from Xaviers in Finest Basket Ball Seen Here

Lovers of basket ball who did not see the game at the armory Saturday night missed what the writer considers to have been the best and fastest game ever played in Newport, the Reserves beating the Xaviers 27 to 10. The visiting team, the Xavier Athletic team, was fully up to its reputation and played a fast game forward and back. There were no slow movements, every one was of some excitement and the fast work of both teams caused the scene of action to shift from end to end with such rapidity that the interest was always at the highest tension point. At times the Reserves would be bombarding the visitors' basket and all interest was centered in their scoring, then in an instant the Xaviers would have the ball at the other end and would seem on the point of scoring. So it ran from start to finish. The Reserves took the lead at the beginning and were never headed. Toward the close they had a lead that was apparently safe, and some of the strain was taken off those in the hall who were on the anxious seat unless the home team was ahead, but for fast playing, good open work, rapidity of action from start to finish and all around excellence in the things that should go to make a basket ball game, the game was the best that the armory has seen.

games, where the result was in doubt until the end, were better, but it was only because the result was in doubt that such ideas exist. In Saturday's game the visitors showed a fast attack and were strong on the defense. Their attack was varied and swift and it took active work to guard against it. The Reserves showed to better advantage than in any previous game this season, perhaps ever. The backs were there and when the demands were a trifle strong for them the forwards were on hand to help them.

It was in defensive work that Newport showed to the best advantage, especially in the first half when the visitors did not score a single point from the field, their four points being made on foul chances. In this half Newport was penalized for seven fouls and Xavier for two, and Newport scored one point to four for the visitors from these fouls. Yet the Reserves were playing as clean a game as the visitors. It was only that Walsh, the visiting official, watched the Reserves more than the Xaviers. The play in this half was open and both teams had a good many tries which went for naught, the Reserves shooting 33 times in vain, and the visitors making 23 shots without scoring once. For the Newport back work it must be said that practically not one of these shots was made under what might be called favorable circumstances, and therefore the fact that the visitors did not score from the floor was not their fault. At the end of the half the Reserves led 9 to 4, and both teams were tired.

The second half opened with a rush. The visitors, a strong team for their build, tried to rush things and for nearly five minutes the struggle was about as rough as it could be without intentional roughness being indulged in. The excitement was at fever heat. The visitors were able to do nothing but postpone the inevitable, and finally they seemed to have shot their bolt and Shea scored. The Reserves then ran up quite a score, and with the second half more than half gone Bigelow scored for the visitors. At this time both teams were nearly exhausted by the rapidity of the play and the speed was cut down. Roche, who had been doing great work, both in attack and in the defense, was unable to keep up the pace and, in fact, all had their slow shoes on in place of the sprint articles which had been used in the early part of the game. When the whistle finally blew for the end of the game, every player on the floor was more than glad. He had been urged on to the utmost and was ready to stop. It was a game that was played for every bit of science and strength that any player possessed.

The Reserves had just a shade the better of the visitors, though the score shows a larger difference than actually existed.

CHANGES IN NAVAL COMMANDS.

New Officers to be Assigned to Atlantic Fleet—Brownson to be Chief of Bureau of Navigation.

Many important changes in naval commands of vessels of the Atlantic fleet have been decided upon by the Navy Department. Captain Edward D. Taussig was relieved December 11 of the command of the Indiana by Captain Dennis H. Mahan, who was ordnance officer at the Norfolk, Va., navy yard. Captain Henry McCrea, who has been on temporary duty at the Washington navy yard, will relieve Captain Benjamin F. Tilley of the command of the Iowa. This change is expected to occur in a few days. Captain William P. Potter, now on duty as assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation, has been chosen to be the first commanding officer of battleship Vermont which he will join as soon as that vessel is completed. This will leave vacant the highly important position of assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation, which probably will not be filled until Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson relieves Rear Admiral Converse as chief of the Bureau of Navigation, which will doubtless take place within a few weeks.

Captain Charles E. Vreeland has been selected to be the first commanding officer of battleship Kansas. He is now on duty in the Navy Department as naval aide to the assistant secretary. No officer has yet been chosen to succeed him. Captain John Hubbard will take command of the Minnesota. He has already been relieved as assistant chief of the Bureau of Ordnance of the Navy Department by Captain Charles W. Bartlett. Captain L. C. Logan will soon be relieved of the command of battleship Ohio by Captain L. C. Heilner.
